

To Whomever it May Concern:

Theatre saved my life. If you would like for me to expand on that thought...maybe fill out my contact form? My name is Cody Floyd (they/them), and I am from a little "city" called Valley, AL. Growing up, I seen a continuing cycle. Go to school, come back to Valley, work, maybe start a family, and die in Valley. I made up in my mind at a very young age that wouldn't be my future.

There's nothing I want to do more on this planet then to explore/connect. I feel I do that best through performance. It's given me a new perspective on life, the greatest friends, and has given me the opportunity to travel around the world. I love it. I find out a little more about myself everyday through this sacred art. It's not pretend, it's not make believe, it's becoming. We are the characters we are cast as.

I believe the continuance of any artists process will help them to excel in the passion they may have. I personally don't want to just leave a place of work/program/project and be stamped as "good". I want to be able to look back on my career someday, and know I could always walk in front of a mirror to see who I was. So many people unfortunately never risk finding out, I will.

At the end of the day, I just want to learn, and be seen as an artist.

Laughter and Light,
Cody

"My religion is theatre." ~ Something Rotten